Speaker Bio

Lisa Arora is a Comprehensive Family Mediator certified by Family Mediation Canada and Mediate BC. She is an expert visual facilitator and family mediator. Her interactive visual methods boost listening, maximize participation, and end the dysfunction so often found in collaborative decision-making.

In 2013, Lisa's world was rocked when mediation proved unsuccessful twice during her own divorce. With Lisa's background, the absence of visual communication in the mediations she experienced was starkly obvious. She could imagine a much better process where she and her ex could have avoided a ton of confusion and painfully problematic communication.

That is when she developed a passion for combining visual communication with family mediation and returned to the Justice Institute of BC to become a family mediator. In addition to visual facilitation, Lisa now runs a private, visual mediation practice in Victoria, BC and teaches dispute resolution professionals around the world to harness the power of visual communication in dispute resolution (www.bigtimevisual.com).
